Introduction

The state of law is characterized by the implementation of legal rule in any sector of national developments, from the highest to the lowest level of legal product. In case of Indonesia, the highest law is the 1945 Constitution. The Constitution covers all aspects of national developments including education. The third paragraph of the Preamble states "to form a government of the Republic of Indonesia which protect all the people of Indonesia and the entire country of Indonesia and to promote the general welfare, the intellectual life of the nation". According to Article 3 of Law No.20 Year 2003 on National Education System, the word "cerdas" (smart) refers to national education functioned to develop skill, to shape character and to build civilization within the framework of national development. According to Howard Gardner, there are ten types of human intelligence (1) language, (2) mathematics, (3) spatial, (4) kinesthetic, (5) music, (6) interpersonal communication, (7) intrapersonal communication, (8) naturalistic, (9) existential, and (10) spiritual (Pasiak, 2003). Spiritual intelligence gained particular attention in pondok pesantren (ponpes), including Ponpes Chuffad al-Ishlah in Pati. The founders of the madrasa believe that spiritual intelligence is the basic principle to gain nine other kinds of intelligences because spiritual intelligence is gained from Islamic values.

Implementation of education policy is necessitated by the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution Chapter XIII Article 31 (1) every citizen has the right to education, (2) every citizen is obliged to enroll elementary education financially support by the government. Article 8 of Law No. 20 Year 2003 states every citizen has the same access in planning, operation, assessment, and evaluation of education program. In addition, Article 9 states society are obliged to support the operation of educational institution. This article also guarantees citizens to the access to education on religion and/or religious education. Law No 20 Year 2003 gives practical guidance for the implementation of the Preamble and the Constitution especially in education. Religious education mentions in Article 9 (1) refers to Islamic education, Christianity, Catholicism, Hinduism, Buddhism and Confucianism. Mean while, article 12 (2) accommodates independence and uniqueness of religious education as long as in accordance with the goals of national education. Thus, the existence of religious education is in line with general education (nonreligious). The Directorate of Pesantren and Diniyah, Ministry of Religious Affairs as representation of vertical board maintained the process of Islamic education in nonformal institution should maximize its function in assisting and facilitating the implementation of nonformal education such as ponpes.

The existence of nonformal religious educational institution needs to be reviewed because it is support and complement for formal religious education. Commonly, the implementation of nonformal education lays on the initiative of the community. Moreover, the government responsible for national education seems to be less concern to nonformal education than formal institution. The government gives a lot of financial support for teachers and staffs, educational facilities and infrastructures and other support for formal education. This policy proves the assumption that the government pays little attention to nonformal education especially religious one. We should realize that the essence of education, formal and nonformal, is nothing but improving the quality of citizen's basic needs, organizing in a democratic and equitable milieu, without any discrimination and respecting human rights, religious values, cultural values, and the complexity of the nation.

In reality, the role of society in the implementation of nonformal religious education is in the same portion with that of formal religious education. Directorate Jenderal Islamic Education, data Ponpes in Pati, Central Java 2021 are 184 ponpes, 29.456 santri, and 3.049 kiai. But, Ponpes Chuffad al-Ishlah (locus research) don't want to register at Kemenag Pati because don't know yet registered benefits.

Standing start of the Ponpes chuffad al-Ishlah, Badruddin, receive a will to established Ponpes Chuffad al-Quran to facilitation for poor by free from K.H Abdullah Salam, this kiai. Despite all the challenge, the Ponpes is still standing in its original site in Kadilangu Village, Rt.03 Rw.02, Trangkil District, Pati Regency, Central Java. The existence of the ponpes is an interesting object to be studied from historical point of view, in terms of challenges and factors of its existence and solution taken by stakeholders in order to stand in the competition. The establishment of the ponpes was the 1993. Constitution by the founding fathers of the Republic of Indonesia; or Law no 20 Year 2003 on National Education and Government Regulation (PP) No 55 year 2007 on Religious Education. Result and Discussion

The Definition of Education and of Services of Education

The definition points out that the elements of developed for learners include religious spiritual strength to achieve the goal of education. The goal of education in Article 3 is developing learners' potential to be faithful to God Almighty, noble, healthy, knowledgeable, creative, independent, democratic and responsible persons. Faith and piety are the main goal of learning process in Ponpes Chuffadz al-Ishlah. This is proven by the design of practical entrepreneurship. Services of education are activities for society (learners) from the organizers of education in the process of education. The services includes facilities, learning process, strategy for successful education for learners facilitated by the management, especially teachers.

Philosophy of Nonformal Education

Nonformal education consists of various forms: study groups (Paket A, B, and C; study group; and internship), course, play groups, child care, and other forms. So, nonformal education is an education other than formal education (outside regular class) both organized and nonorganized institutions. The activity of nonformal education is open to everyone, non-binding, and not centralized or can be a supplement for formal school other program equal to formal school. Nonformal education has a broader scope than formal school. Non formal education according to the expert has several advantages: (1) it can be adapted to the dynamic needs of users and society because non-formal education is organized outside formal school, (2) it may be functioned as a bridge between school and work, as a supplementary, complementary and substitute for formal school, (3) it has no specific grade and level, (4) both institutionalized and not institutionalized one focus on training and coaching, and (5) it is outside the class. The purposes of nonformal education are (1) to serve society to learn from early childhood to elderly people to enhance the dignity and quality of life, (2) to assist society in learning to gain knowledge, skill and mentality required to improve self ability, to earn living or to continue study in higher educational institution, and (3) to meet the learning needs of society unable to get access to formal education.

Nonformal education may be organized by government, board, group or individual responsible for the institution. The society can establish non formal education other than governmental training. The unit of non formal education can be martial arts' center, art studio, training center, boarding school, religious group, training, regular course, and tutoring in the media. In addition, in Government Regulation (PP) No 55/2007 confirms the position of pesantren as one form of non-formal education. Non formal education intends (1) to serve society to learn from early childhood to elderly people to enhance the dignity and quality of life, (2) to assist society in learning to gain knowledge, skill and mentality required to improve self ability, to earn living or to continue study in higher educational institution, and (3) to meet the learning needs of society unable to get access to formal education. PP No 55/2005 Article 14 (1) states that Islamic education is in the form of diniyah and pesantren. Law No 18 Year 2019 about Pesantren, PMA No.30/2020 establisment and activity pesantren and PMA No.31/2020 education pesantren.
